UC Hastings College of the Law will be partnering with the Japan Society of Northern California (JSNC) in collaboration with the Pacific Pension Institute (PPI) in the production of a fourth international symposium on corporate governance which will be held on Friday, October 18, 2013.

In addition to UC Hastings faculty, staff, and students, we are targeting an international audience with a strong interest in corporate governance practices in Japan. This includes individuals with oversight or fiduciary responsibility for investments in Japan, such as pension plan sponsor representatives and trustees, endowment and foundation professionals and trustees, and investment management specialists. M&A advisory employees interested in how Japan’s changing legal framework will affect merger and acquisition activities in Japan will also find the conference of great value. Professionals such as lawyers, consultants and accountants working with pension funds, endowments, investment managers and M&A advisors having a Japan – U.S. focus will also have much benefit from participation.

This conference will further appeal to company executives and to academics with an interest in global and Japan corporate governance practices. In addition, since the symposium will be at a law school, law students and practicing lawyers will be interested as well and it will also give an opportunity for students at local universities to find out more about this important topic.
